Dear Mr. Uritus,

I am writing you to commend the expeditious efforts of Brian Lieburn and his team to remedy some construction problems with our Sovereign home. These problems existed since the construction of the home and could have created integrity issues as time went along.

After assessing the problem, Brian immediately drew up a game plan and, within a week, the work was done.

This speaks well of your company and its willingness to make things right. Often we are quick to criticize when things go wrong but I believe in acknowledging the good deeds which are sometimes taken for granted.

Please extend my appreciation to Brian and Ed for their efforts. I will be sure to share my satisfaction with others.

Sincerely,

Sam Van Horn
